In Antioch

Besides his widow he is survived by a brother, John, Rosecrans; and a sister, Mrs. Mary Marshall, Grayslake.

Funeral services will be held from the Methodist church Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, with Rev. Phillip Böhl officiating. Burial will be in the Hickory cemetery.

How About Paying 25 Cents For $75 Worth of Publicity

Let us say you have some old furniture for sale or maybe you want to rent a house, or hire a maid or sell a flock of chickens.

You could write a letter to each of the subscribers of the Antioch News. Let's see now. 1500 times a 2-cent stamp plus cost of stationery plus labor equals about $75.

Instead, why not write your message in as few words as possible, not over 30 in this case and send it in or call 43.

Estimate that there is an average of at least 3 persons in each family. 1500 families times 3 equals 4500, conscious of your wants.

FIVE CANDIDATES SEEK SHERIFF POST IN LAKE COUNTY

Tiffany Boosters Open Campaign With Banquet for Candidate

There is no dearth of shrievalty timber in Lake county, Illinois. That is certain. Five candidates who seek the honors and the duties to be passed to other hands next December by Sheriff Lawrence A. Doolittle make it plain that no draft is going to be necessary to fill the post which the law says no man can hold for two consecutive terms. Therefore Sheriff Doolittle can not be re-elected, or "succeed himself", as many voters and some newspapers phrase it.

800 Attend Tiffany Banquet Boosters for Lester T. Tiffany, Lake Forest chief of police, and the first candidate to announce for sheriff, tendered their favorite candidate a banquet at the Waukegan Masonic temple dining hall Thursday night, which was attended by more than 800 persons. The assemblage represented every town and hamlet in the county and 24 speakers praised Chief Tiffany's record for law enforcement. The banquet is reckoned as officially opening Tiffany's candidacy.

Defeated by Doolittle in 1926

Mr. Tiffany served as chief deputy sheriff in Lake county from September of 1923 until the fall of 1926. In 1926 he was a candidate for sheriff, but was defeated by Lawrence A. Doolittle, the incumbent. Since September of 1926, Tiffany has been police chief of Lake Forest.

He has two brothers serving as police chiefs in Lake county, Frank Tiffany of North Chicago, and Clayton Tiffany of Mundelein.

Former Sheriff in Race Two former sheriffs of Lake county, Edwin Ahlstrom and Elmer Green, both of Waukegan, are again aspirants for the office. Green served two terms as sheriff and two terms as chief deputy sheriff in Lake county. Ahlstrom has served one term.

Green had charge of the jury which

500 ATTEND LAKE COUNTY PURE MILK MEET AT GRAYSLAKE

Association Observes 1st Anniversary of Truce Following Strike

By C. L. KUTIL

Over 500 members of the Lake County Pure Milk association attended a huge meeting Tuesday evening at the opera house at Grayslake, the occasion being the celebration of the first anniversary of the truce agreed to by the farmers and the dealers following the strike last winter.

Don Guyer, general manager of the association, very thoroughly explained what has been accomplished during the year and outlined a program for the future.

"The fact that there is an oversupply of butter, cheese, and condensed milk on the market has been responsible for the drop in the price of milk," explained Mr. Guyer. On January 1, 1930, there were 82,000,000 pounds of butter in storage, as compared to a five-year average of 48,000,000 pounds the last five years. Similar conditions obtain in the cheese and condensed milk trade.

This surplus must be gotten rid of by increasing the consumption, shutting off imports from foreign countries, and cutting down production. The last is quite painful to the farmer as he must have the dollar value for living expenses and may even be tempted to produce more at a low price to get his dollar.

Condensery, creamery, and cheese factory patrons are receiving unusually low prices, explained Mr. Guyer, and only through co-operative marketing has the Pure Milk association been able to maintain the present high price. The surplus milk problem was discussed at length. Measures to control surplus are being taken.

A. M. Krah, director of publicity for the Pure Milk association, spoke of his spreading correct information to the dairymen and the general public regarding milk production and marketing. A comprehensive knowledge of the many angles of the dairy industry is proving of great aid toward amicable settlement of controversies that are ever arising between the producer and the marketing companies. The support given the association by its members is the best it has ever been in the history of the dairy industry in the Chicago district. One who can vision into the future can see great things in store for the real dairymen, but the public must first be educated.

Mr. Royer, laboratory man of the association, explained the work of his department in checking weights and tests for the members. Approximately $600 is saved the members each month through the discovery of errors.

The Lake Zurich High School band played several selections previous to the meeting. Many from Antioch and vicinity were in attendance.

FINAL TRIBUTE IS PAID TO MEMORY OF E. LEHMANN

Lived on Lindenhurst
Farms in Lake Villa
For Ten Years

Final tribute was paid to the memory of Ernest E. Lehmann of Lindenhurst Farms Tuesday when a small number of relatives and friends attended private funeral services at the town apartment, 420 Roscoe st., Chicago. Mr. Lehmann, who was 43 years old, died on Saturday night after he had suffered a heart attack while dining at the Edgemoor cafe.

Mr. Lehmann, who has been suffering from heart ailments for several years, had been warned, according to his physician, that a fatal attack might come at any moment. He was dining with his nephew, Edward J. Lehmann, Jr., 3662 Sheridan road, Chicago, and several friends when the fatal heart attack occurred. The meal was almost finished when he suddenly collapsed over the table. He was dead before his physician, Dr. William Stuhr, could reach his side.

Mr. Lehmann has lived for the last 10 years at his estate at Lake Villa, although he maintained a residence in Chicago.

He was one of the heirs to his father's $3,000,000 estate and his manor at Lake Villa is a beauty spot well known throughout the county. He devoted practically all of his time to the raising of blooded stock. Although his brothers and sisters had been active in the management of the Fair store, he had no active connection with the business other than his share in the estate of his father.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Clara Lehmann, the deceased is survived by one son, Ernest E., Jr.; a daughter, Miss Jean Lehmann; two brothers, Edward J. Lehmann, former president of the Fair, and Otto W. Lehmann; and two sisters, Mrs. L. D. Behr, and Miss Augusta Lehmann, who is now in Europe.

Municipalities with a population of 5,000 or less must nominate candidates by caucus and not by the holding of primaries, according to an opinion by the attorney general's office. The opinion, which was asked by A. W. Schimmel, Pike county, stated this was based on amendment of the law by the last legislature.

Local Institutions Are Up and Coming in Training of Youth

ANTIOCH PUBLIC WILLING TO PAY FOR GOOD SCHOOLS

By W. C. PETTY

Parents today who are seeking a place to properly rear their children are demanding a locality that is salubrious, in which the general community life is sane and wholesome. If a locality is to be selected by thinking parents, it must afford schools which take into account the individual needs of the children and regard recreation as a part of the educational program. Parents mindful of their children will look for a community where the social life is simple and friendly and where there is opportunity for training in music, art, and dramatics. These same parents will also seek a community where there is something of vocational and domestic guidance offered.

Antioch Gives Youth Chance Such optimum conditions are not naturally the concomitant of the more expensive residential districts; neither are they to be expected in the cheaper. It takes something more than a real estate boom to insure these cultural luxuries. Rather, these conditions are to be found in the community that desires to further family life and is willing and prepared to forego some other interests in order that the youth may have ac-

MISS FLORA DE VOSS TO HAVE TITLE ROLE IN "PEG O' MY HEART"

Popular Actress Returns to Footlights With Rotnour
Players

Miss Flora DeVoss, ever popular stage favorite, returns to the footlights next week when she appears with the Rotnour Players in the title role of the popular drama, "Peg O' My Heart." The play is to be presented at the Crystal theatre, Antioch, Tuesday night.

It was after numerous requests made to Manager J. B. Rotnour to have Miss DeVoss appear that she consented to return in one of her favorite roles after an absence from the footlights of more than five years. She chose "Peg O' My Heart," a play that has added to her fame throughout the middle west. Thousands of theatre-goers throughout the circuit are looking forward to seeing Miss DeVoss next week in one of the best dramas ever written—"Peg O' My Heart."

cess to complete living and development.

Local Schools Above Par How, then, about Antioch? Can it qualify? I believe that I am conservative in saying that it meets the conditions. We are up and coming in the training of youth. I find that we are above par in nearly every respect in which one may view the educational situation. Our school buildings and equipment are evidence of the community's willingness to be taxed for this worthy enterprise. In teacher training Antioch ranks high. The school boards have insisted upon qualified teachers and have been willing to pay for them. The grade and high school curricula are perhaps not so wide as to satisfy every need; yet the opportunities offered in music, art, and vocational work are quite extensive. Just this year the (Continued on page eight)

Under his wise guidance a co-operation and working efficiency has been established that keeps the Antioch schools second to none. Prin. Petty shares with the entire community a very justifiable pride in Antioch schools.

LAKE VILLA CAR BANDIT IS GIVEN ONE YEAR TO LIFE

Arthur Reid Fears
Prisoners' Welcome
Will Be Unkind

HAS LONG CRIMINAL RECORD

Being sentenced yesterday to serve from one year to life in the Joliet penitentiary, Arthur Reid, box car thief who was caught after a gun fight in the Lake Villa yards of the Soo line, will go back to prison where he became an informer on his brother convicts in 1927. His welcome, he pointed out to Sheriff Doolittle, will be none too kind and he looks for death at the first opportunity the convicts get to dole it out.

Denying motion made by Attorney Kurt Kiesow for a new trial, Circuit Judge C. Edwards made the statement that he was in no position under the law to send Reid to any other prison.

To Be Taken Monday "Saturday is prison bath day; the men will be able to get at me then," he said when pleading with the sheriff to take him Monday instead of Saturday.

The car bandit has a record of having served in three penal institutions in three states, at one time having shot a railroad detective at Janesville, Wis. The most of his arrests and convictions resulted from his entering freight cars.

Reid is 41 years old and his criminal record dates from his 15th birthday when he was arrested as a juvenile criminal and sentenced to the state reformatory at Jackson, Michigan. He is said to be penniless.

WAUKEGAN MAN TAKES OWN LIFE; IN POOR HEALTH

Jos. Vasek, 32, Ends Life in Garage; Is Found By Mother

Choosing an exit from life as certain as it was dreadful, Joseph Vasek, 32, of 918 Adams street, Waukegan, hanged himself Tuesday afternoon in the garage in the rear of his home. The cause for the act is thought to be poor health.

Discovering him there, his mother, Mrs. Jennie Vasek, summoned John Gregorka, 917 Prescott street, Mrs. Anna Hazrimus, 913 Prescott street, and Frank Kosak, 830 Adams street, according to the police report made by Patrolman Virgil Stewart and James Leckie.

The suicide, who was last employed at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, went to the garage shortly before two o'clock, police were informed. After he had been absent for some time, his mother, who thought that he was working on his car, went to the garage, where she discovered him hanging from a rafter.

First Suicide Attempt Thwarted Once before, Vasek, despondent, tried to end his life by jumping from a window, but his attempt was thwarted. He had been in a despondent mood for several days, due to ill health, it is reported.

Police are of the opinion that he jumped upon a fender after adjusting a noose around his neck and fastening it to a rafter and then jumped.

Vasek was unmarried, but he leaves, besides the mother, a brother, Frank, Jr., and his father.

Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Beebe returned Sunday from Odebolt, Iowa, where they were called by the serious illness and death of the former's cousin, Mrs. Robert Bulst. Mr. Bulst returned to Antioch with the Beebes, where he will make his future home.

Floyd Mathews recently accepted a position in Chicago as a registered pharmacist.

Word comes from Mr. and Mrs. Robert Selter, Brownsville, Texas, that the climate down there is very agreeable to them.

PROHIBITION PROGRESS

Ten years after the passage of the 18th amendment we find the traffic in alcohol still uncontrolled, as it has been for the last 5,000 years. The American people are making a poor job of enforcing laws and as there are more evasions of the prohibition laws than of other laws, there are many who will claim that the law enforcing machinery is breaking down, because the liquor laws cannot be enforced. We have never been able to subscribe to such a policy. Failure to enforce laws is primarily the result of graft in government and cowardice on the part of the people.

The American people can enforce laws if they wish. Whether it be to protect life and property or to curb the activities of the bootlegger, enforcement is possible, but difficult. In fact it seems that American business men are too busy making profits to enforce laws.

We are the richest nation the world has ever known, but what wealth amount to if the government is unable to protect life and property?

PROPAGANDA STUFF

This is an age when the world is flooded with propaganda. Every day tons of matter go through the mail that is supposed to be educational. In reality it is put over some idea that will assist the one who is paying for the publicity. Lecturers who are pretending to represent disinterested organizations go out and it is later discovered that some big combinations of capital have them on their payroll. Newspapers buy the services of high-priced men and then these writers introduce stuff that is advertising Texas lands. At other times the aircraft makers are suspected of subsiding these feature writers. Read a magazine and you are never sure that the articles are not prepared at the order of some concern that is financially interested in influencing public opinion. It is said that Russia has a system of subsidizing writers such that almost anyone wishing to visit there may do so at a nominal expense if the government is permitted to determine what they see and how they should describe it.

HOW ABOUT SOME ACTION?

The Senate recently started on what is forecast as a six-months session.

A major issue during the session will be the tariff. American industry is hampered so long as its fate, in relation to imported goods, hangs in the balance.

If the Senate really wants to accomplish something that will benefit industry, wage-earners and farmers, the passage of a fair tariff bill supplies the answer.

WHAT IS CORRUPTION IN GOVERNMENT

Corruption in government is not merely a matter of the passing and taking of bribes, or the buying of votes or making "deals" to insure elections.

The official who supports, vocally, a law which he laughs at among his friends or in privacy of his home, is corrupt exactly as the official who accepts an actual cash bribe.

VIRGINIA LEADS THE WAY

In 1928, the state of Virginia appointed a commission to prepare a program for the relief of agriculture in that state. The report of this commission has just been made public.

One of its chief recommendations is for the extension of construction activity upon farm-to-market roads as feeders for the state highway system.

Practically all states are beginning to realize the necessity for good roads in the farming sections to enable the farmer to transport his produce when market conditions are most favorable instead of when the roads are passable, and to alleviate the social isolation which used to be synonymous with living on a farm.

While main through highways are of course indispensable, lower cost hard surfaced roads reaching all farms (so-called farm-to-market roads), are equally necessary to an efficient highway system.

Old Eagle Eye Says--

The first really respectable snow storm of the season came over us last Friday. There must have been several inches of the beautiful before clouds petered out. Many a prospecting germ was knocked out of the atmosphere by the flakes and buried, leaving a clean air which everybody drank in with satisfaction.

Late that night and all day Saturday there wasn't so much satisfaction connected with it. Old Weather Man surely did give Antiochans the frigid glance.

"The Days of Real Sport" are over and "Mr. and Mrs." will no longer stage their battles and "far, far into the night" discussions, for Clare Briggs, the originator of these true to life cartoons is dead.

Business down here at the News office was interrupted Tuesday morning when word came that a daughter had been born to Mr. and Mrs. John E. Moore. Officially the baby's name is Alice Meredith, but she will probably go through life dubbed with some pet name applied by a doting daddy.

"When I have any news, I always phone it in, because I like to see the home paper progress", said one of Antioch's older residents to Old Eagle Eye Tuesday morning. That's what you call genuine community spirit!

At least two local mothers took advantage of the beautiful snow Sunday by taking their daughters for a sled ride. Poor little Rosalee had tough luck; she fell off and went "boom", but Marjorie managed to stick on.

Mauve Molehills

CHEERFULNESS

Learn to laugh. A good laugh is better than medicine. Learn how to tell a story. A well-told story is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sick-room. Learn to keep your own troubles to yourself. The world is too busy to care for your ills and sorrows.

Learn to stop creaking. If you cannot see any good in the world, keep the bad to yourself. Learn to hide your pains and aches under pleasant smiles. No one cares to hear whether you have earache, headache, or rheumatism.

Don't cry. Tears do well enough in novels, but are out of place in real life. Learn to meet your friends with a smile. A good-humored man or woman is always welcome, but the dyspeptic or hypochondriac is not wanted anywhere, and is a nuisance as well.

Above all, give pleasure. Lose no chance of giving pleasure. You will pass through this world but once. Any good thing, therefore, that you can do, or any kindness that you can show to any human being, you had better do it now; do not defer or neglect it, for you will not pass this way again.

THE SEAT OF THE SCORNFUL

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois

Since they have been capable of conscious emotion men have desired happiness and have sought it in every occupation of life. One has only to look about him to know how very many unhappy people there are in the world. Four thousand years ago it was as it is today. In King David's time men were searching in vain for happiness and that keen observer of human nature laid down certain laws for reaching a happy and contented state of mind.

"Happy is the man," he says, "who walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful."

There is no happiness resulting in a deviation from virtue, in the violation of law, nor in a feeling of superiority over those with whom we associate daily. Virtue, honesty, humbleness of mind—these characteristics are at the foundation of happiness.

Youth, it seems to me, has a little tendency these days to stand on one side watching the procession of middle-aged and old passing by and to curl his lips and raise his eyebrows in a somewhat supercilious way, scorning the faith and the accomplishment and the manner of life of those who have preceded him.

The easiest thing in the world is to criticize what other people have done or believed; to find weaknesses and faults and mistakes of all sorts, to scorn what has been done by our elders. But the scornful are never happy. One might imagine that there might be a sense of satisfaction in a feeling of superiority, but it is not so.

I attended a convention of young people not many weeks ago, and after it was over I had a letter from one of the delegates. He had taken no part in the discussions, but he was scathing in his comments upon the way the business had been carried on and upon the character of the legislation which had been enacted. His whole attitude was one of superiority and scorn of his fellows, but he was far from happy.

As I was coming from Honolulu to San Francisco last summer I met on the boat a British missionary who had spent most of his life working with the people of India in some way if possible to make their lives happier and more comfortable, and their religion more vital. He told us of his faith and his work one afternoon as we sat about the lounge—simply, sincerely, and I thought very effectively. There was a young girl listening with a sneer on her face, scornful of every reference to the power of religion to mold men's lives. She was superior to everything of that sort. She had no use for religion of any sort, she said, and especially for the Christian religion. But her face was hard, unsympathetic, discontented. She was terribly unhappy.

ANTIOCH POST No. 748

Legion Auxiliary News

Antioch post for the American Legion has only a short distance to go now before it will have secured a 100% membership for 1930. This is a splendid showing for the ex-service men of Antioch.

At the regular Thursday evening meeting last week, entertainment chairman Otto Klass was given the offer of having two nights set aside at the Antioch theatre in the near future for the benefit of the local post. Dates and the name of the picture will be given in detail very soon.

The main order of business at the meeting on February 7th will be the initiation of new members taken in this winter. Every member of the post is urged to be present, since the ceremony is very impressive.

Ten non-freezing legionnaires of Antioch post traveled to Lake Forest last Friday night to attend the Lake County Council meeting. Good speakers, initiation of members and lunch were treats in the face of the bitter cold weather.

KONJOLA MAKES SALES RECORD IN 48 HOURS

Orders For Fifteen Carloads of Medicine Received

What is believed to be a record in the history of the prepared medicine business is reported by the Mosby Medicine company, Cincinnati, manufacturers of Konjola.

In 48 hours, during the week of January 1st, 1930, orders for fifteen carloads of Konjola were received. This was not the result of a special sales drive, but the orders poured in during the regular course of business, when many great wholesale drug companies sought to replenish their stock after taking the customary annual inventories.

Commenting upon this unprecedented order, Mr. G. H. Mosby, president of the company said: "This means that more than a quarter of a million bottles of Konjola are needed at once to supply the demand, and this record-breaking bit of business, which I believe to be unheard of in the merchandising of medicine, may be attributed to two factors. One of them is the merit of the product, and the other is the consistent newspaper advertising back of Konjola. Certainly

Sally Ann's Adventures

—at her home

Sally Ann often goes out to her grandfather's farm to play with all the other boys and girls there. She has just the most wonderful times. Her grandpa has an old horse whose name is Kit and the kids get the biggest kick out of riding on her back and driving her. She is the children's horse and she is always so gentle and kind, never showing the least impatience, even when they are a little thoughtless, as all children sometimes are.

Kit understands as well as any that older people are almost always right and she is many, many years older than any of the children.

There is a beautiful wood about a half mile from Sally Ann's grandfather's farm and almost every time Sally Ann goes out to the farm her grandpa will hitch old Kit on to a sleigh and then the older kids and Sally Ann will go for a ride through the woods along the road over which the cows come home from the pasture in the summertime. This is a beautiful wood and in its depths is a most enticing cave, which seems to have been made especially for playing games which the children have made up from story books, from Scott's "Tales of a Grandfather" or the "Arabian Nights".

The girls do not find it quite so exciting as the boys, but still it is rather good fun to be a captive and be rescued and all that sort of thing. Kit is always left more or less to her own devices. Sometimes she stays tied and sometimes she departs from the wood in search of adventures on her own account; but when it comes time to go home the old horse is always on deck, and if none of the kids are ready yet, she whinnies loudly and then ambles along slowly until all the boys and girls have jumped on the sleigh. Once they all agreed not to mind her and she went home alone, but Sally Ann's grandfather told them that he would not trust them away unless they came home when Kit was ready, for she knew best.

Hints For Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

If your food chopper needs sharpening, run a piece of sandpaper through it, just as though the soap were food. It will both sharpen the cutters and remove any grease that may be on them. Rinse thoroughly in boiling water.

Tea biscuits sometimes turn out paler than they should. A teaspoon of sugar added to the recipe will help to give them the golden glow that adds so much to their appetite appeal. Tart shells, pie crusts, and rolls gain greatly in appearance if a little sugar syrup is brushed over them just before they are taken from the oven.

ANTIOCH WOMAN IS POSSESSOR OF MANY VALUABLE ANTIQUES

Autograph Book, Old Newspapers Among Treasures Of Mrs. Haynes

MOTHER KNEW WHITTIER

A sense of perfect amazement would descend upon you should you have the privilege of seeing and handling the quaint old historical things that Mrs. Alice Haynes, Park Ave., possesses. Should you go there you would find antiques that are priceless, antiques that would make collectors stand up and take notice, antiques that are unequalled in the realms of fiction! Just to gaze upon these things, which are so old and quaint, to say nothing of handling them makes one feel rather ritzy.

His Autograph Book

It has been frequently remarked that the handwriting of an individual bears a close analogy to his character. If this be true, Mrs. Haynes could spend the rest of her life studying character, because she has in her possession a book of autographs which has been handed down to her from an aunt, who, by the way, spent two years of her life in Paris studying art. When she left Boston, where her home was, the man for whom she worked wished to give her gift and so told her she could take her choice between this autograph book and a book of fiction. She chose the former and consequently Mrs.

Haynes has the privilege of owning it today. It contains the autographs of about 100 famous men, among them being those of George Washington, John Quincy Adams, and William Bradford. In this book there is also the original copy of a letter written by J. T. Gilman, governor of New Hampshire in 1814.

Newspapers Hundreds of Years Old

Among her other treasures are many many newspapers. She has the Boston Weekly News-Letter published in 1768, in which there is a long discourse on electricity written by John Winthrop, who closes by saying, "But it may justly be hoped that careful observations on the course of lightning, the manner in which different bodies are affected by it, the particular situation of those bodies, and the neighboring ones, and the distance to which points extend their protecting influence will lead to farther discoveries on this interesting subject". Poor old John would surely rub his eyes in amazement should he come to life today and see on every hand the drastic changes that have taken place through the agency of electricity. The Boston News-Letter, as you will recall from your history, was the only newspaper published on the American continent during the reign of Queen Anne, and there were only about 30,000 copies printed annually. In Mrs. Haynes' portfolio there is also a copy of the Myrtle Wreath published at Concord on Tuesday, November 8, 1831, and the London Gazette of January 16, 1695. The latter, a weekly paper, was first published at Oxford on August 22, 1642, and it remained a weekly until the Revolution of 1688.

Historical Letter Interesting

Of interest to historians would be a letter from Ursula Cutt to Richard Waldron, which was written at Portsmouth on May 19, 1691. This same woman was killed three years later by the Indians. In this same collection is a copy of the hymns that were sung at the centennial celebration of the settlement of Boston in 1830, and a picture of the Trimountain in 1630. As you know the city of Boston was built on this chain.

Has Ring With A History

Mrs. Haynes has a gold ring which was made from a gold leaf that was sent to her aunt from California at the time of the gold rush there.

Among the other antiques which she has is a solid silver set which originally came from Boston, gold thimbles, and two tiny Bibles, one of which was printed in 1848 and the other in 1855. She also has several crayon pictures of relatives which her aunt drew.

Whittier Visited Mother's Home

Not infrequently did John Greenleaf Whittier and his sister visit at the home of her mother when the family lived in the East. Mrs. Haynes said that her mother was deeply impressed with the beautiful features of John G.'s sister.

LAKE CO. TO SHARE IN DISTRIBUTION OF STATE AID MONEY

Eighty-six Counties That Held Shows to Receive
$23,636.76

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23—Gov. Louis L. Emmerson announced today that the state department of Agriculture, directed by Clarence F. Buck, will pay this week the first state aid that 4-H club shows now are entitled to receive by way of premium reimbursement.

Mr. Buck informed Governor Emmerson that the state aid totals $23,636.76. It will be distributed to farm bureaus in eighty-six counties which held club shows in 1929.

The measure authorizing the distribution was passed at the last session of the legislature. Under its provisions, the 4-H clubs that hold competitive exhibits of live stock, poultry, grain and other agricultural products may derive aid to the extent of three-fourths of the premiums paid, up to a total of $700.

Thus each county may draw as much as $525 from the fund. Of that amount, $105 may be used by each county in reimbursement of home economics' premiums.

The legislature provided $40,000 annually for 1929 and 1930 for these reimbursements. The fund is derived from fees and admission taxes collected by the state from licensed jewelry clubs.

Of the 86 county clubs participating in this premium fund for 1929, thirteen paid upward of $700 in premiums and therefore are entitled to the maximum allotment of $525.

These 86 counties, Mr. Buck's tabulation shows, paid out $29,095 in premiums but will realize $20,422 from the state. In home economics shows, the premium payments totaled $4,639. The reimbursement will be $3,213.65.

The thirteen counties entitled to draw the maximum amount of state aid are:

Bureau, Coles, Douglas, Fulton, Henry, LaSalle, McLean, Macon, Marshall-Putnam, Mercer, Peoria, Sangamon, Williamson.

Lake county will draw $203.63 of the state funds for agriculture and $27.75 for home economics.

KONJOLA MAKES SALES RECORD IN 48 HOURS

Orders For Fifteen Carloads of Medicine Received

What is believed to be a record in the history of the prepared medicine business is reported by the Mosby Medicine company, Cincinnati, manufacturers of Konjola.

In 48 hours, during the week of January 1st, 1930, orders for fifteen carloads of Konjola were received. This was not the result of a special sales drive, but the orders poured in during the regular course of business, when many great wholesale drug companies sought to replenish their stock after taking the customary annual inventories.

Commenting upon this unprecedented order, Mr. G. H. Mosby, president of the company said: "This means that more than a quarter of a million bottles of Konjola are needed at once to supply the demand, and church.

this record-breaking bit of business, which I believe to be unheard of in the merchandising of medicine, may be attributed to two factors. One of them is the merit of the product, and the other is the consistent newspaper advertising back of Konjola. Certainly such an order, coming from various sections of the country within two business days, is a fine commentary upon the far-reaching effect of the newspapers that carry Konjola copy."

RAILROAD MAN STAUNCH FRIEND OF NEW KONJOLA

Suffered Fifteen Years With Indigestion And Other Ills—Praises Modern Medicine

MR. HECTOR L. PAQUIN

"For fifteen years I was the victim of stomach trouble," said Mr. Hector L. Paquin, 4536 North Hermitage avenue, Chicago. "I often wondered, as I tried in vain different medicines and treatments, if anyone ever had indigestion as bad as I had and got over it. I was constipated chronically and my system must have been fairly saturated with poisons and impurities. No wonder I became highly nervous. I could not rest well, and every morning I got up tired, worn-out and groggy. Sometimes I had terrible headaches all day long."

"To my astonishment, and delight, two bottles of Konjola did me more good than all the medicines combined I had tried in fifteen years. Two more bottles won a complete victory over my health troubles. I am feeling simply great and never overlook the opportunity to tell what this splendid medicine did for me."

Konjola is sold in Antioch at S. H. Reeves' drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

BUILDERS ACHIEVE HOUSE OF FUTURE IN 1930 HOMES

Rosy Dreams of Architects Come True in The Best Modern Homes

By Wyatt Brummitt

For years, architects, builders and prospective home owners have been dreaming of an ideal modern home. The dreams have varied a little, naturally, but in general they have been very much alike.

The year 1930 can make those dreams come true. In many cases it has already happened. The house of the future is here.

These are some of the features wistful home designers and home dwellers have had in their minds:—clean-cut beauty, complete fire-safety, structural strength, low first cost, minimum maintenance cost, weather-tightness that means easy heating in winter and easy cooling (possibly artificial) in summer, controlled ventilation and the utmost in convenient arrangement to meet the everyday needs of modern, motor-age, living.

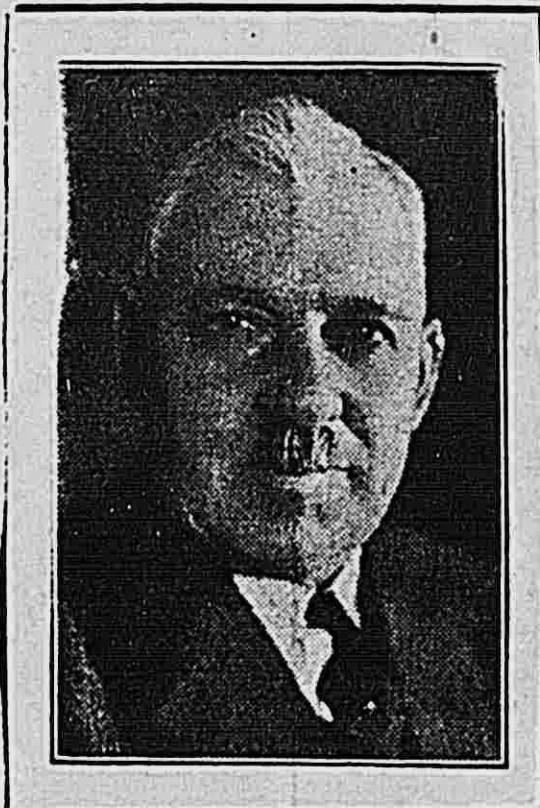

In practically every part of the country there are new houses, finished or under construction, which embody all or many of those characteristics. In California, for example, the United States Army Air Service is taking the lead in building officers' bungalows, at March Field, which are as modern as the fleet planes that maneuver overhead. A double concrete wall, with an enclosed air space, affords the utmost in cool comfort, no matter how hot the day may be. The roofs are also doubly protected and the deep-set windows transmit the maximum of light and a minimum of hot glare. And when cool days come, a relatively small heating unit suffices, for there is no percolation of heat to the outside. Incidentally, the March Field quarters are architecturally revolutionary, as far as Army posts are concerned, for they have been designed with an eye to beauty as well as to the other qualities of modern construction. In other parts of the country there are small and large homes which, by the judicious use of modern materials from footings to chimney cap, are making the dream

Edward A. Brown For Sheriff To The Voters Of Lake County Illinois

Mr. Brown is a Republican candidate for Sheriff. He was born in Avon Township, Lake County, Illinois in 1881 and has spent his entire life and energy in this county, having been in business in Round Lake for more than twenty years.

He has been a member of the Lake County Board of Supervisors since 1919, by the vote of the men and women of his township, and his ten year record on that board wonderful proof of his ability to hold an elective office as to preserve the respect of his constituents. His service on several important committees, particularly those involving the road building program, has contributed real service and saving to the citizens of his county.

His service on the Board of Supervisors has shown him the importance of the office of Sheriff of Lake County, and no man more than he realizes that the office is not an easy job, but a real opportunity to give the public substantial, clean and honest service.

Mr. Brown thoroughly realizes through his connection for a decade at the Court House in Waukegan, that the Sheriff's office is growing more and more in the volume of business involved and the people coming in contact with it. He knows that the rights of citizens should always be the real inspiration of any county official.

He realizes that not only men and boys come in contact with this office, but also the women and girls of this county are often involved with the services of a Sheriff. The fact that Mr. Brown is married and has a daughter now a student at the University of Illinois, is proof that he will conserve the rights not only of men who come in contact with his office, but also the rights of women and children who may be involved in Juvenile court, Probate court or any other connection with court matters.

Mr. Brown honestly has pledged and now renews that pledge that if nominated at the Primaries and elected thereafter he will devote his best ability and conscientious endeavor to execute the duties imposed on him as Sheriff as a sacred trust. He insists that every voter who votes for him will understand that if elected he will fulfill honestly and fairly for all concerned, the duties imposed by his oath of office.

Sequoits Win Victory From Lyden, North Chicago, Barrington

Antioch Sequoits sprung a surprise in a conference trick when they ambushed the strong Barrington team, winning by a score of 26-17.

Although Antioch was in the lead during the entire contest, the Barrington boys put up a real fight and it was only in the last few seconds that the Antioch players felt that the lead was sufficient to put the game on ice.

Barrington had some hard luck in that they were unable to sink their shots. Antioch's fast breaking offense kept the ball in possession of the Sequoits the greater share of the time. It is quite likely that Barrington and Antioch will meet in the tournament Saturday p. m., for the semi-finals. This should be one of the best games of the tournament. Antioch's Minors won from Barrington's Lightweights by a 15-13 count.

The young braves journeyed to Lyden Saturday night and secured a victory from Coach Watson's crew, winning by a score of 30-14. The boys felt that this was a revenge for the defeat handed them during the football season. Watson has a plentiful supply of guards, but a scarcity of basket sinking players. The Lyden Lightweights lost to Antioch by 12-10.

Local players will go to Arlington Heights Friday night. This should be a very interesting game, because Antioch won from this team by only one of the ideal house of the future come true.

Many of the designs which have been aired in home journals and architectural magazines are for large, extensive dwellings, suitable to people of wealth. This is natural, for it costs no more to dream on an elaborate scale than on a modest one. But there is ample evidence to prove that the small house can be as truly modern, in every detail, as the mansion. And it is the small house owner who most appreciates the economies and conveniences of real -1930 construction. As a matter of fact, he cannot afford to build an old-fashioned house, with its prodigious waste of space, of fuel for heating and of money for maintenance.

point the first of the season. Both teams play the same type of game and the players' techniques are similar.

On Saturday evening St. Mary's High school will be entertained in the local gym. Its team is reputed to be an exceptionally strong aggregation. This will be the last game before the tournament next week.

The Sequoits are now tied for first place in the conference standing, each team having lost one game.

The schedule for the tournament is as follows:

The first session will be held at Arlington Heights, Thursday, January 30. The first game will be between Gurnee and Libertyville; the second between Arlington Heights and Palatine.

On Friday evening the north and south sections will hold separate sessions. At Bensenville, the first game will be between Barrington and Leyden. The second game will be between Bensenville and the winner of the Heights-Palatine game.

The north section will be entertained at Antioch, the first game being between Ela and the winner of the Gurnee-Libertyville game. The second game will be between Wauconda and Antioch.

The semi-finals and finals will be held Saturday afternoon and evening at Libertyville. The first game in the afternoon will be between the winners of the Antioch-Wauconda game and the Barrington-Leyden game. The other Friday evening winners will play the second game. The losers of the afternoon game will play at 7:30 and the winners at 8:30. Trophies for first and second places will be awarded.

The committee in charge of general arrangements consists of: F. C. Fonton of Bensenville; H. E. Underbrink of Libertyville; and L. O. Bright, Antioch.

Members of the junior class are sponsoring a movie entitled, "So This Is College". The dates are the 12th and 13th and the place is the Antioch theatre.

The eighth graders enjoyed a sleigh ride party Wednesday night. Mr. Lykke was the driver and the chaperones were the Misses Alice Warner and Dorothy Patterson. Mrs. Lykke furnished the eats.

ANTIOCH SCHOOLS ARE ABOVE PAR, PRINCIPAL AVERS

 grade school put in an art department that is proving unique in its work. More stress too is being given music through the establishment of a grade school orchestra. This makes an easy transition into the high school's music courses.

Versatile Curriculum at A. T. H. S.
 The standing of our community high school is far above the average. One needs only to walk through its trophy room to understand the high place it has achieved in scholastic, vocational, and athletic contests. I know of no high school in Antioch's enrollment class which is more enthusiastic in bringing out the musical talent of its students. This issue of the Antioch News will convince my readers of our high school's athletic rating.

Better Citizenry Goal of Schools
 I am convinced therefore that the Antioch schools are attempting very successfully to equip their pupils with abilities not only to make a living but to spend wisely a leisure. The school boards and administrators are aware of the fact that crime occurs when people are off duty; and that the people who have not learned to employ their leisure time properly are the source of our delinquent classes. All of these lines of endeavor in trying to run our schools scientifically with a better citizenry as a goal surely make manifest the feeling of the Antioch public toward its schools. If you care for a concrete example of Antioch's interest in its schools I invite you to attend our Parent-Teachers' association meetings. The organization is one of the most flourishing in the state and its enrollment is remarkably high in comparison with our population.

Standards Should Be Maintained
 Since our schools are above the average and since public spirit is high, what then are we to do? Are we to sit back complacently and say "Well done"? I say "No", because education is such a dynamic thing that we must ever be alert in keeping our standards abreast of the times. We must set as our goal "complete living for our children", and not be satisfied until we have in a large measure approached that ideal.

REGIONAL SYSTEM OF AIRPORTS IS BEING PLANNED FOR CHGO

Airport Needs of Metropolitan Area To Be Discussed

Plans for an adequate system of airports for the Region of Chicago will feature the Annual Meeting of the Chicago Regional Planning association, Thursday evening, February 6 at the Palmer House, Chicago, according to D. H. Burnham, president of the association.

"General John F. O'Ryan, chairman, Colonial Airways Corporation, New York will address more than 700 Regional Plan members," said Mr. Burnham. "He will point out the definite need of landing fields which are large in area, properly located, and well built. His experience not only in the general problems of airway routing, operation and financing, but in the practical details of locating and building airport systems give General O'Ryan's conclusions and recommendations special weight. Aviation interests from a 50 mile radius of Chicago are planning to attend."

"Three other planning subjects will be the focus of discussion in the earlier session of the full day meeting the Association has on February 6," Mr. Burnham continued. "The morning will be devoted to current zoning problems which are constantly coming before boards of appeal and city councils."

"The noon luncheon will be devoted to the subject of harbors and waterways, and the afternoon session will feature highway problems of regional character."

"Every zoning and municipal official in the suburbs and Chicago is invited to hear and take part in the discussion of the distinction between zoning amendments and variations which are within the scope of zoning appeal boards."

What projects should be completed at once, and what others should follow promptly to provide adequate terminals, docks and industrial sites are to be described and illustrated by lantern slides by Major Rufus W. Putnam at the noon luncheon session.

As engineer for the Harbor Plan of Chicago, Major Putnam is prepared to propose definitely the steps that must be taken at once.

Devoting the afternoon to highways, the principles and practical plans of separating the grades of highways and railways will be discussed fully by both highway and railway authorities.

"No highway system is adequate for a metropolitan area if unreasonable delays are caused at the intersections of two highways or of a highway and a railway", the Association President continued, "both railway and highway engineers are co-operating in an investigation of grade crossings in the Region of Chicago to determine a schedule of separation of grades or adequate protection."

All sessions are to be open to the public and everyone in the Region interested in Zoning, Harbors and Waterways. Highways and Aviation is invited to attend. Further details of the program may be obtained from the office of the Regional Planning Association, 160 North LaSalle St., Chicago.

 tried and acquitted former Governor Small of graft charges. Later he was made superintendent of prisons of Illinois and then warden at Joliet penitentiary.

Deputy H. A. Doolittle of Waukegan, father of Sheriff Doolittle, is the administration candidate.

Brown Candidacy Booming
 The fifth entrant is Edward A. Brown, for 11 years member of the Lake county board of supervisors, and for 20 years a business man of Round Lake. He is the only candidate from the western part of the county. Brown's candidacy is meeting with much favor throughout the county, and he is going to be a formidable warrior in the race, according to his friends, who are doing everything in their power to further the interests of their favorite candidate.

All five candidates are Republicans. Democrats do not nominate candidates for county office.

CRANDALL ICE CO., HAULS
 6,000 LBS. OF 1930 ICE
 The last chunk of the 1930 ice harvest went into the Crandall Ice house Friday. A total of 6,000 pounds was hauled, according to Les Crandall, who was in charge of the job.

Contrasting the harvest now with that 20 years ago, old timers say that then nearly all of the hands employed were Chicagoans, who came out for the annual "bee".

ANTIOCH NETTERS DROP 34-22 GAME WITH N. CHICAGO

Antioch's flashing netters defeated the strong North Chicago team 34-22 in the local gym Monday night. Continuing their great attack, which upset Cliver Lake, Kenosha, and others, they easily overwhelmed North Chicago.

With Nixon, Ewers, and Wilson making points all over the floor, they ran up a nice score. Nixon was high point man with 15, while Wilson and Ewers were right behind. Wertz, Simpson, and Ewers put up a stiff guarding game, which kept the visitors shooting long ones.

Next Monday, Antioch goes to Lake Villa to battle their old rivals. Later in the week, Lake Villa returns the big game and a large crowd is expected to see this thriller.

The lineup is as follows:

SCHOOL DAYS

SCHOOL DAYS! What a wealth of memory and charm those simple words hold for most of us!

The most valuable and cherished days in one's life are school days. They are not only the days in which the fundamentals of knowledge are acquired, but they are also the days in which character, habits and personality are moulded and shaped.

Our homes exert the greatest influence over our boys and girls, but the next greatest influence that determines the type of future citizens of our community is the School.

It is most unfortunate that a nation-wide survey of our United States shows that there are far too many children and youths who are not enjoying the school days that should be such an important part of their early lives.

School attendance is a Community problem, because schools are far and away the chief community enterprise. There is, on an average, as much invested in school property as there is in all other public property combined. The schools should be the best administered phase of our civic life.

The average community spends over $100 each year on every child attending school and is devoting $200 worth of school property per pupil. However, the average Community does not rate high on its schools because it seldom has much in the way of Vocational education. Still more often it has little or nothing in the way of Evening Schools. The system of grade and high schools of the average community usually rates but 75% of standard.

It is important in our progress as a community that our schools be above average—that they train our boys and girls efficiently—that they properly equip them to meet the trials and opportunities of life. Our aim should be:

1. Modern school buildings, equipment and recreational facilities.
2. A school year that covers nine months of the year.
3. Efficient teachers who are well paid.
4. All children of school age attending school regularly.
5. All of our children graduating from grade and high school.
6. A higher education, or special vocational education, for all those whose future duties will require special training.

Only a limited number of men and women in our town give our school system proper attention. Responsibility lies on the shoulders of a mere few. As our chief community enterprise, our schools deserve the thought and attention of everyone.

School Days! For memories' sake and for our children, any goal less than the "best in the world" for our schools should be too low for

CHAPTER X—Continued

"I suppose you are right," she sighed. "Well, don't blame me if anything goes wrong. Of all the hare-brained—"

"Rats!" I scoffed. "If they jump us, and there are too many of them, we'll retreat. But maybe we can clean up this job tonight for good and all. If we can, it's worth trying."

Watkins emerged from the cabin with the tools. Nikka insisted that he was the best climber of the party, and took charge of the rope. Hugh and I carried the crowbars, which we wrapped in sailcloth to prevent their clinking against the stones of the wall. Then we stepped onto the slimy rocks of the jetty, Nikka in the lead.

It was a perilous climb to the shore, and we negotiated it slowly, helping one another and taking every precaution to avoid making any noise. At last we found ourselves in the jumble of boulders constituting the breakwater at the foot of the sea wall, which reared its moss-grown battlements high overhead. We turned to the left here, and crawled over and through the rocks on the beach to a point under the overhanging wall of the House of the Married. From the beach it looked unclimbable, but Nikka, after surveying its mounting courses, removed his shoes and started the ascent, an end of the grapnel rope looped around his waist.

We who watched him stood with knocking hearts for what seemed an eternity. Spread-eagled against the wall, he appeared as infinitesimal as a fly in the darkness. Our first knowledge that he had succeeded came when he jerked up the grapnel lying on the beach at our feet. He hoisted it slowly, lest it clash against the wall, adjusted its prongs and tossed down the knotted length of rope.

Hugh followed him with ease, bracing his feet against the wall when he was tired. Then I went up. Then my uncle. Watkins came last. It was now well toward midnight, and a haze was settling over the city. The Curlew was invisible even to us who knew precisely her location. The silence was absolute. The water lapped on the beach below. That was all.

Naturally and by right, Hugh took command. It was his expedition.

"Do we go down through the trap door Jack and Nikka used or do we use the rope to drop directly into the garden?" he asked.

"Best use the trap door," advised Nikka.

"Yes," I agreed. Then the rope will always be handy in case you want to escape."

"Right O!" endorsed Hugh cheerfully. "Jack, you and Nikka will come with me. Professor King and Watty will be rear guard and second-line for emergency use. Stay where you are, professor, until you hear from us."

We crossed the room toward Sokaki Mayserl, the large courtyard on our right, the Garden of the Cedars on our left. The trap door was shut, but unfastened, and Hugh lowered himself gently, and creaked down to the floor. We followed him. The room was in pitch-darkness, but we made certain by touch that it was empty. The door to the hall was off its hinges, but propped in place.

"I've picked up a chair leg," Nikka whispered by the broken door. "You fellows use your crowbars if—"

He paused significantly.

"Right," Hugh whispered back. "Can we lift this door or aside?"

The hinges rattled slightly as we shifted it. The next moment we peered through a yawning cavity, ears alert. Not a sound reached us and we stole forward with the utmost care. Midway of the hall were the corkscrew stairs up which Kara had guided Nikka and me. I judged we were close to them when a door jarred beside us. There was a shout, and we were surrounded by a mob of half-seen figures. They were all around us, but in the darkness they got in each other's way, and I thought we could beat them off.

A man seized me by the shoulder, and I drove my fist into his face. Two others leaped on me. I cracked the skull of one with my crowbar, and broke the arm of the second. Hugh in front of me was driving his opponents down the stairs. I heard Nikka exclaim once, then a gasp—and a light flashed. Hugh had cleared a space, but went down as I looked, throttled from behind. Nikka was just rising from beside a man whose head was crushed in. Then the rush began again.

I reached for my pistol, but did not have time to draw it. The attackers surged in from all sides. I had a fleeting glimpse of Hilmi Bey. Serge Vassilievich ran up the stairs. I heard somewhere the snarling voice of Toutou LaFitte.

"Jack, hold them for me!" cried Nikka. "Must warn—King!"

I swung my crowbar in a circle, and backed toward Nikka's voice. He had shaken himself clear.

"In that door—opposite—reach window!" he gasped.

We charged and split a path toward the door of one of the rooms. As we reached it, a pair of gorilla-like arms wound around my neck. I tried to hit over my shoulder with the crowbar, but somebody caught my wrist. As I fell I heard Nikka's cry:

"Run, Professor! Save Betty! We're—"

That was all. Toutou had me on the floor and was choking the life out of me. I lost consciousness.

When I came to I was lying on a very damp, hard floor. Several lights dazzled my aching eyes, and a number of people were talking in French.

"Hi, Nash is with us again," said Hilmyer's voice. "I was afraid you might have done him in, Toutou."

"If you take my advice," I recognized Hilmi Bey's falsetto tones—"you will have Toutou operate on all three of them. He has ways to make silent men speak. Do you remember Rattner, the Swiss broker, Toutou?"

Toutou's answer was an almost indistinguishable "gurr-r-r-r-r-r" of rage.

Alive now to the position I was in, I opened my eyes wider and tried to rise. But I was bound hand and foot, and could not move. I could, however, see where I was. Not far away Hugh and Nikka were propped against the stone wall of a chamber, which I suppose you could call a dungeon. It had no window. The door was open. The floor sloped gradually toward the center, where there was a square stone grate about two feet square.

But the most interesting aspect of my surroundings was the group in the doorway. Toutou stood in front, his green eyes sparkling with hate and lust. Hilmi Bey frowned at his elbow. Serge Vassilievich and Hilmyer were there. Tokalji frowned at us, hand on knife-hilt. Helene de Cespedes and Sandra Vassilievna, in their modish costumes, looked singularly out of place. They lent a touch of unreality to what was otherwise a singularly brutish picture. As I looked, Helene stepped forward.

"Help Mr. Nash to sit up, Montey," she said.

He raised me not ungraciously to a sitting position.

"You are in a serious fix," said Helene. "I've tried to make you boys understand that the Boches were merciful enemies compared to us. We don't recognize civilization. For us it doesn't exist. We have gone back to primal principles. Now we've got you, and you've got to talk."

"Words, words," lamented Hilmi viciously. "Let Toutou take his knife to them. That will do the trick."

Tokalji evidently understood the purport of this, for he rasped a quick assent. Toutou flashed a long, stiletto-like blade, and stepped toward us.

Dispute Over Origin of Frontier Weapon

Two slightly different stories appear to have been passed down to posterity concerning the origin of the bowie knife, famous as a weapon in the days of Texas independence, says a writer in the Detroit News. One of these tales has it that the weapon was made by Jesse Cliffe, blacksmith, an employee of Rezen Bowie, father of the man generally known as the inventor.

Some time after the invention of the knife James engaged in an altercation with Maj. Norris Wright which resulted in Wright shooting at James. The latter was saved when a silver dollar in his pocket deflected the bullet. Drawing his own pistol, James aimed at Wright but the trigger

Chicago's First Settler

The first settler in the territory now covered by the city of Chicago was not a white man. About the time of the revolution Gene Baptiste Point de Sable, a colored man from San Domingo, established himself in what is now Chicago as an Indian trader. He built a log house and later sold it to a Frenchman.

"I'll carve them," he purred. "They do not look now as they will when I have finished with them. Ha, yes, Toutou's knife knows the way to truth. Soon they will be asking to die."

But Hilmyer jumped in front of him. The Englishman's thin face was aflame with temper.

"I'll stand for a good deal," he said, "but I won't permit torture. You are a fool, Toutou. You'd only kill them the way you did the old lord. Here, you people, we must call him off. He'll spoil the whole show."

Sandra backed him up, and compelled her brother somewhat sullenly to join in the protest. But Hilmi Bey and Tokalji energetically took the opposing side.

"They have killed three more of my men," howled the gypsy. "Shall they sow death through my tribe, and live unharmed?"

"They shall," declared Helene calmly.

She stepped beside Toutou, and placed her fingers on his wrist. Her eyes sought his. He snarled in his catlike fashion, and drew away from her. But she fearlessly came closer to him, and slowly, under the compulsion of her fingers, he returned the knife to its sheath.

"There has been enough of this," Helene went on. "Mr. Nash, do you join with your friends in refusing to give up your secret?"

I nodded.

"Very well," she answered, "we will leave you to think it over. If you are wise, you will understand that having blundered into this trap—as you must have blundered sooner or later—the best you can hope for is life in exchange for what we want. I cannot continue to save you from the cruelty of those who relish brutal measures. There is a limit to my patience, too. I advise you to make intelligent use of the next twenty-four hours. You cannot be saved. Your friends cannot reach you. The authorities cannot intervene. If they did, you would disappear. You have twenty-four hours more."

They took all the lanterns, except one, and went out, I closing the door after them.

CHAPTER XI

Watkins to the Rescue

"Well, this is a nice mess I got you chaps into," said Hugh unhappily. "It's not your fault any more than it is ours," returned Nikka. "We walked squarely into a trap and were bagged. That's all. Did the Kings and Watty get away?"

"Must have. Helene and the others said nothing about them."

"I hope they will not try anything foolish in the way of a rescue," said Nikka. "If Wassio Mikall establishes touch with them, I am afraid they may be tempted to do something."

"There is nothing they can do," answered Hugh. "Our goose is cooked. We're kaput, finished. As Helene said, if the O. C. of the Forces of Occupation jammed his way in here, they could make a clean sweep of us. They might—"

He hesitated.

"—they might drop us down that grating in the door, toss us into the Bosphorus the way Abdul the Damned used to dispose of his enemies. There are lots of things they could do with us. They will think that even if they have to scrag us they will still have the Kings and Watty to work on."

Nikka aroused himself.

"There is no sense in abandoning hope," he remarked. "Is this any worse than that pill box at Le Ferriere?"

"Good old Nikka," said Hugh affectionately. "I say, let's try for a nap. It must be some hours to daylight yet—not that that matters any in this dark hole."

"Please make Father change his smoking tobacco"

MEN go to their graves ignorant of the suffering an over-strong pipe has caused others. But now, we trust, Father will lose no time in discovering Sir Walter Raleigh, whose mild, fragrant blend is as popular with the smoked-at, as it is delightful to the smoker. This blend of choice Burleys has plenty of body and a very special fragrance. Yet it's so mild you can smoke it all day long, with only the sensation of increasing enjoyment.

FAMILY DOCTOR LEARNED THIS ABOUT CONSTIPATION

Dr. Caldwell loved people. His years of practice convinced him many were ruining their health by careless selection of laxatives. He determined to write a harmless prescription which would get at the cause of constipation, and correct it.

Today, the prescription he wrote in 1885 is the world's most popular laxative! He prescribed a mixture of herbs and other pure ingredients now known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, in thousands of cases where bad breath, coated tongue, gas, headaches, biliousness and lack of appetite or energy showed the bowels of men, women and children were sluggish. It proved successful in even the most obstinate cases; old folks liked it for it never gripes; children liked its pleasant taste. All drugstores today have Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in bottles.

When Babies FRET

There are times when a baby is too fretful or feverish to be sung to sleep. There are some pains a mother cannot pat away. But there's no time when any baby can't have the quick comfort of Castoria! A few drops, and your little one is soon at ease—back to sleep almost before you can slip away.

Remember this harmless, pure vegetable preparation when children are ailing. Don't stop its use when Baby has been brought safely through the age of colic, diarrhea, and other infantile ills. Give good old Castoria until your children are in their teens! Whenever coated tongues tell of constipation; whenever there's any sign of sluggishness that needs no stronger medicines to relieve. Castoria is pleasant-tasting; children love to take it. ## Home Has More Danger Than Savages of Brazil

JOHN J. WHITEHEAD, explorer and lecturer, has just returned from eight months in the jungles of South America, where he was searching for traces of the lost Colonel Fawcett and his son.

Dangerous as he found the jungle, he encountered a worse danger at home. But let him tell it.

"One of the great problems of a trip of this kind is keeping in healthy condition. When we started, some of the members of the party had laxatives with them, but made wise by experience I carried Nujol. All too quickly my stock ran out. Soon I was in bad shape—what with a diet of rice and beans, lacking vitamins and green vegetables.

"When we finally got back to civilization, entertained first in Brazil and later in the United States, I became positively ill. Severe stomach pains and poor elimination made me realize that Nujol would again prove the reliable, trusty keeper of health. Sure enough, with the first bottle the trouble disappeared.

Don't think Nujol is a medicine. It is as tasteless and colorless as clear water. It brings you, however, what your body needs like any other machine—lubrication. Just as a good bath washes our bodies clean, Nujol sweeps away easily and normally those internal bodily poisons (we all have them) that make us feel dull and headachy and sick. Nujol cannot hurt even a little baby; it forms no habit; it contains not one single drug. Doctors and nurses use it themselves and tell you to use it, if you want to be well.

Take Nujol every night for two weeks and prove to yourself how happy and bright and full of pep you can be, if your body is internally clean. Get a bottle today at any drug store. It costs but a few cents, and makes you feel like a million dollars. Start traveling the health-road to success and happiness—this very day!

Needless Pain!

Nowadays, people take Bayer Aspirin for many little aches and pains, and as often as they encounter any pain.

Why not? It is a proven antidote for pain. It works!

And Bayer Aspirin tablets are utterly harmless. You have the medical profession's word for that; they do not depress the heart.

So, don't let a cold "run its course." Don't wait for a headache to "wear off." Or regard neuralgia, neuritis, or even rheumatism as something you must endure. Only a physician can cope with the cause of such pain, but you can always turn to Bayer Aspirin for relief.

Bayer Aspirin is always available, and it always helps. Familiarize yourself with its many uses, and avoid a lot of needless suffering.

Tinkering

THERE are some automobile owners who are forever pulling their machines apart and putting them together again. Evidently they do this under an inflated idea of their mechanical ingenuity, thus hoping to improve upon factory adjustments. As a general rule it is this type of person who is always complaining about his car's poor performance.

This tinkering business is bad enough for motor cars, but it is vastly worse for human bodies. The most that can happen to the automobile is that it will be ruined. And money buys another one. Human beings, on the other hand, are not factory products. When injured by tinkering they either remain that way, or pass out of the picture entirely and forever.

Yet, in spite of this well-known fact, it is positively remarkable how many tinkers there are in the United States today. They divide themselves roughly into two classes. Those who show an undue affection for the home remedy and quick product, and those who permit that old bugaboo worry to influence their imagination to distressing proportions.

It is not at all surprising that with so many of these people around that at least 4 per cent (and this is a very conservative estimate) of those who visit doctors have nothing whatsoever wrong with them. Little wonder that advertised cure-alls are so potent! Nor is it any puzzle to understand how so many unfortunate make themselves physically and mentally ill through the power of a vivid imagination.

If people would only realize that to self-diagnose a real or supposed case of disease and then swallow a self-administered dose from a beautifully labeled bottle, represents about the worst type of tinkering on earth, there would be fewer deaths at the wrong time.

If for any reason, however, you conclude that you are ill, don't brood over it. Seek advice. If the physician pronounces you sound, let that be that. If actually sick, then follow the doctor's orders. Under no circumstances tinker.

"Breaking" the Kitchen

A FAVORITE sport of the two weeks' vacation sojourner is to attempt to "break" the hotel kitchen. On the theory that the eat-what-you-please plan is an invitation to exhaust the food supply many guests, if actions may be interpreted, are quite convinced that their capacities are equal to the challenge.

Vacation stomachs consequently are anything else but stomachs on vacation. In reality they are afflicted with gross abuse every time their owners are at table.

Admittedly, eating can be raised to the status of a high-class pleasure. But there is no "class" at all in turning this natural body function into a low sport. Which is exactly what happens when fat dainties, corpulent men and even average people consistently attempt to embarrass the food stock of a resort hotel.

And what is true of these dining room indiscretions also applies to others who, while temperate at the hotel, commit a similar crime by stuffing themselves and their children between meals with all sorts of edibles and drinkables.

Most certainly one does not want to be disciplined too much when on the annual pilgrimage. And there really is no need for it. Even luxuries have their place. Palatable cooked food has its right to reasonable attention, also. But to make eating the main joy of an outing is to overlook the real advantages of fresh air, rest and mental change.

Therefore, eat reasonably. Enjoy what you eat to the full. But don't try to "break" the hotel kitchen. You can't do it. Moreover, conceivably you may break yourself in the attempt. (© 1929, Western Newspaper Union.)

Nature's Long Process in Slate Production

Slate, so geologists tell us, was originally sediment deposited on the ocean bed or lake floor by tidal current and mountain stream. After years of gradual accumulation this deposit was subjected to tremendous heat and pressure by some convulsion of the earth's surface. A metamorphosis took place. Clay turned to silica and loose silt was compressed into fine-grained rock, so fine-grained, indeed, that even when completely immersed in water for 48 hours it absorbs less than one-half of 1 per cent of its weight.

Here, then, is the raw material for an ideal roofing. Being close-grained natural rock it is treproof, water-proof and so nearly weatherproof that the phrase "eternal rock" is a common synonym for everlasting. Yet had nature stopped her manufacturing processes at this point we would never have had any slate roofs. One more characteristic was needed to change that sedimentary rock into slate. So nature again applied tremendous pressure and produced cleavage.

Thousands Employed in Uncle Sam's Business

The official Register of the United States for 1929 shows 587,065 workers are now employed by the government through civil service. The register takes into consideration only employees in the executive branch of the government and does not include hundreds of thousands of others in the legislative, judicial or military services. In the federal executive service, 63,904 are employed in the District of Columbia and 523,761 in the field. Of the total number, 82,501 are women. The Post Office department has the greatest number of employees with 314,795 under civil service, while the Treasury department ranks second with 53,004 and the Navy and War departments rank third and fourth, respectively, with 50,575 and 47,267. In ten departments in Washington, more women are employed than men, but in the field service men predominate.
